TRAIL MAP

71 miles meandering through the diverse physical and social mosaic of the region, experiencing the High Line Canal means connecting with nature and communities. The High Line Canal is one of the longest and most spectacular linear parks in the nation. It spans 11 governmental jurisdictions from Waterton Canyon in Douglas County to far north Aurora. Its Cottonwood banks weave through residential neighborhoods, public parks, golf courses, cemeteries, commercial and industrial lands, and over and under urban thruways, all while offering those traveling its banks a slice of nature in the city.

CANAL TRAIL CHARACTER ZONES

WILD CANYON
Rugged and wild—a place to explore and look for wildlife including bears, and big horn sheep.

ROLLING FOOTHILLS
Rural landscapes and established and growing neighborhoods. Spectacular views await around every corner.

WOODED VILLAGE
A shady and peaceful retreat with towering cottonwood trees and other vegetation as well as proximity to conservation land.

URBAN REFUGE
A natural refuge—but never far away from urban amenities—passing schools, other trails and local parks.

PRAIRIE RETREAT
Pays tribute to the pioneering spirit of the region, winding through a promising future of open landscapes and new communities.

AN ADVENTURE
FOR EVERYONE

*At the time of printing, please note the mileage on this map reflects future mile markers, which will be based on the actual mileage of the trail. Wooden mile markers donated by the High Line Canal Historic Preservation Association will be replaced in 2020.
